

SOCIETY EVENTS

Ends Cruise
On TuesdayPresident Will Return to Capital Tomorrow
Morning.

The President and Mrs. Harding will return tomorrow morning from a three-day cruise on the Mayflower, the Presidential yacht.

With them are their house guests, Miss Abigail Harding, sister of the President, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Scroby, of San Antonio, Texas. Others in the party are the Secretary of State and Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, Representative and Mrs. Frank Mondell.

The Vice President, Calvin Coolidge, who with Mrs. Coolidge, is visiting at Swampscott, Mass., expects to return to Washington some time this week.

Mrs. Coolidge will not return until later in the month.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, who are spending the summer at their suburban home, "Graystones," overlooking Rock Creek Park, are expected to return to Washington some time this week.

Miss Catherine Hughes, eldest daughter of the Secretary and Mrs. Hughes, who has been abroad during the summer, will sail on September 16th for home.

MRS. DENBY POSTPONES
RETURN TO WASHINGTON.

Mrs. Edwin Denby, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, has postponed her return to Washington until the end of the month. With her children Mrs. Denby is at Will Point, near Detroit.

The Secretary of Labor, James Davis, will go to Detroit today from Chicago where he has been since last Thursday. Secretary Davis will not return until the end of September to Washington.

The Minister of Switzerland and Mrs. Mary Feter, with their two sons, are in San Francisco. They will return to the legation here about September 15.

The Secretary of the Italian Embassy and Mrs. Celestia were hosts at dinner last evening in honor of Signor Tommaso Tittini, president of the Italian senate, and Signora Tittini. The guests included a distinguished list of diplomats and members of official and residential society.

DR. J. HUBBRECHT RETURNS FROM HOLLAND.

Dr. J. Hubbrecht, secretary of the Netherlands legation, who has been in Holland for the last few months, arrived in Washington Saturday. Dr. Hubbrecht will act as charge d'affaires of the legation until the new minister arrives.

Jonkheer W. H. de Beaufort, former charge d'affaires of the legation who is now in Mexico, will return to Washington about September 25. He will leave the latter part of October for Greece to assume his new duties as minister at Athens.

Senator and Mrs. Frelinghuysen are entertaining Senator Frederick Hale aboard their houseboat, Victoria. Senator Frelinghuysen and his party have been on a fishing trip and are making their way leisurely to New York.

Former Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will return to their New York home the middle of this month from Eastport, Me., where the former is recuperating from a severe illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Taft 2d, who have been visiting Chief Justice and Mrs. William Howard Taft at their summer home at Murray Bay, Quebec, have gone to Washington. Mr. Taft will be with Mrs. Taft's mother, Mrs. Irving H. Chase at her home in Miramar.

Senator and Mrs. Knox sail on GEORGE WASHINGTON. Senator and Mrs. Philander C. Knox sailed Saturday from New York aboard the George Washington bound for Bremen, Germany, by way of Plymouth and Cherbourg.

Lieutenant Warren Christian is spending the week-end with his parents, the Secretary to the President and Mrs. George B. Christian.

MISS ANN CARTER LEE
WEDS LIEUT. EDWARD ELY, JR.

Miss Ann Carter Lee, daughter of the late Capt. Robert E. and Juliet Carter Lee and granddaughter of Gen. Robert Edward Lee, was married Saturday to Lieut. Edward Ely, Jr., U. S. N., in Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church at Upperville, Loudoun County, Va. The wedding, which took place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, was attended by many guests.

The bride was in exclusive society circles of Virginia and the East. A reception was held immediately after the ceremony at Nordley Regis, the home of the bride, where Mr. and Mrs. Ely, and Mrs. Ely's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Christian, were the hosts.

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Col. Robert E. Lee, U. S. A. The bridegroom is the eldest son of Gen. Hanson E. Ely, U. S. A., now in command of Fort Leavenworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Wymond H. Bradbury and grandson, of the Wardman Park Hotel, are at the Ambassador, Atlantic City.

DIRECTOR GENERAL ROWE
RETURNS TO WASHINGTON.

Dr. L. S. Rowe, Director General of the Pan American Union, has returned to Washington after attending the sessions of the institute of politics at Williams College, Williamstown, Mass.

John Barrett is at the Ambassador, Atlantic City, for an extended visit.

Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Gustafson have returned to the city after a two-weeks vacation in the Middle West.

Dr. and Mrs. Swornstedt have returned to the city after spending a month's vacation with relatives in Massachusetts.

MRS. EDWARD J. KING
LEAVES FOR ILLINOIS.

Mrs. Edward J. King, wife of Representative King, left yesterday for her home at Galesburg, Ill., where she will have as a guest during the recess her sister, Mrs. Nellie A. Rockwell, of Denver, Colo. Mr. King will go to Illinois by auto.

Merchant M. Mahoney, representative department of external affairs for Canada, will leave for New York today to meet Mrs. Mahoney and their little daughter, Anna Kathleen, who are returning to Washington after spending three months at their summer home, Stanley Island, St. Lawrence River.

Pastor, Accused
By Church, Admits
Use of Profanity

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 4.—"If a minister thinks a man is a damn fool, he has just as much right to say so as any one else."

That was the statement of the Rev. W. T. McElveen, the rock on which he split with the First Congregational Church.

"Profanity and roughness," was the charge brought against Dr. McElveen, which resulted in a request from church officials that he tender his resignation.

Dr. McElveen admits that he was guilty—from the standpoint of the ultra-conservative church members—on both counts. But from the standpoint of a man trying to convey practical Christianity in a way that would carry effect, he considers himself guilty of nothing except a fervent desire to make good on his job.

"The issue is simply one of method," said Dr. McElveen. "Home people like the milk-and-water way of putting over Christianity, but I don't."

"One of the charges made against me is that I said some one was a damn fool. Well, if a man is a damn fool I don't see why a minister shouldn't say so as well as any one else. It happens to be the only way in which I characterize a certain type of man."

"I have tried to carry out some practical Christianity. Some people didn't like my questions and answers. But if a congregation's minister isn't going to discuss current events with them I'd like to know why."

"One remark for which I was criticized concerned the Y. W. C. A. Some one had asked if it were true that a radical campaign was being carried on by the organization to get higher wages for girls. I said that if one wasn't careful it should be that women should make enough to make it unnecessary for them to depend on their gentlemen friends. They called that roughness. Well, I'll admit it's a rough fact—but you have to face rough facts once in a while."

GARYS TO SPEND
MONTH IN MEXICO

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Judge and Mrs. Elmer H. Gary, of 865 Fifth avenue, who have been occupying their country house at Jericho during the summer months, will leave on Wednesday for Mexico, where they plan to remain until October.

The Garys will be accompanied by a small party of friends at her camp at Arville, N. Y., over the holiday, and tomorrow evening Mrs. Gould will entertain in honor of her house guests. On Friday Mrs. Gould will close the camp and return to "Georgian Court," at Lakewood, N. J., for the autumn.

Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, who is at present occupying the White Cottage at Newport, will leave here Tuesday and go to Jericho, L. I., where she will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wm. K. Vanderbilt, 2d.

Mrs. Wm. W. Sherman, who is expected back in this country in the near future, after an extended stay in Europe, will spend the autumn at the White Cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Crimmins will give a fancy dress ball tomorrow evening on board their yacht, the Night Boat, following the Chaffield County Kannel Club's dog show at Noroton, Conn. Preceding the ball Mr. and Mrs. Crimmins will entertain at dinner.

Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont entertained a number of guests over the week-end at "Beacon Towers," her country estate at the far end of Sands Point, L. I. Mrs. Belmont has closed "Sea Cove," the villa she occupied throughout the summer at Newport, and will not return to the Rhode Island watering place until next season.

Mrs. Avia Allen Tomlinson, of No. 1 Lexington avenue, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Mary Tomlinson, to Mr. Hilary Herbert Mico, of Detroit, Mich., son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Mico, of Washington, D. C., and grandson of the late Hilary Herbert, Secretary of the Navy in the cabinet of President Grover Cleveland.

WINS FIRST PLACE
IN FETE AT BOWIE

HYATTSVILLE, Md., Sept. 4.—Phillip Nalley, of Collington, Prince Georges County, won first honors in the annual tournament at Ascension church grounds at Bowie yesterday given for the benefit of the church.

There was an attendance of several hundred, including many political candidates.

CRAUFORD KENT

POLIS.

"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," the brilliant Metro screen presentation of the famous story of the same name by V. Blasco Ibañez, which began an extended Washington tour at the Metropolitan Theater last Sunday night, ends the second week of its local run there last night. The production has proven intensely popular since it was first presented here and it has received unstinted praise from public and the press. A splendid cast of players interpret the story, under the directorial guidance of Rex Ingraham.

GAYETY.

"Cuddle Up," the brilliant production, this "Cuddle Up" affair that opened the '21-'22 burlesque season with a bang at the Gayety Theater yesterday. "Cuddle Up" is a typical Bedini presentation, lavishly gowned and staged, with features and novelties galore and a galaxy of talent that has always been evidenced by Mr. Bedini's productions.

The place itself is a whirlwind success of songs, dances, comedy and then more music and songs. Needless to say, it pleased everyone who attended the performance. Among the most notable burlesque principals who are in the cast are George E. Snyder and Dan Sherman, a pair of fast and successful laugh producers; Yvette Quinn, Tess Sherman and Mable DeForest, ingenue, soprano and prima donna, respectively; and Eddie Marks and Nat Moran, the latter being remembered last night by his scores of admirers made by his work last season. The Williams Brothers are the specialty dancing team.

A burlesque comedian, Ted Healey by name—so the managers tell us—is one of the brightest lights of the whole show, although he works only about fifteen minutes. He is a co-actor, a co-director, that is like that used by a group of nationally famous burlesque comedians, and although some of his material is time worn, he certainly has the ability and pep to put his number over. He doesn't exactly stop the show last night but he made it difficult for Miss Sherman to sing the number following his act. Another good thing about this fellow is that he is a comedian, and he didn't hurt his offerings by taking continued bows. This burlesque artist won't be with burlesque long—if his work last night symbolizes his ability to work. We'll see him again.

The chorus, too, is typical of a Bedini show, elegantly gowned and well trained in their dance numbers. Burlesque is a business, and it certainly got away to a good start this year and from present indications it probably will remain the same.

CAPITOL.

"Social Follies."

The good ship Capitol breezed forth upon its 1921-'22 tour of burlesque amusement yesterday afternoon with Jack Garrison again at the wheel, and a motley crew of mirth provokers, which travel under the alias of the "Social Follies."

After a burlesque-less summer, the "Follies" were apparently welcome to the spectators who half filled the theater, and considering that this was the first public performance after a couple of weeks rehearsing, the crew was exceptionally good. Harry Stratton and Carl Bowers, the former, a conveyor of Hebe's, and the latter, doing a "Dutch," are responsible for most of the comedy, but John Quigg, in blackface, probably scored the biggest hit of the afternoon—and he didn't work half as hard as the other two comedians. The steel door was a new one on the former butler. Frustrated, he and his pals hit for the highway in an automobile, only to be stopped by the police.

"We only wanted the booze," lamented Axel Johnson, of Manhattan, the butler. "The silver didn't mean a thing in our young lives."

That being the case, the police held them on a charge of burglary in the second degree.

U. VA. MEN ATTEND
EAGLE FUNERAL

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Sept. 4.—W. T. Dettor, Harry Wilson and Walter Chisholm, former members of University of Virginia Base Hospital No. 41, left yesterday for Doe Hill, Highland County, to attend the funeral of Samuel R. Eagle, a contractor, who gave up his life during the world war.

Mr. Eagle, who left his studies at the University of Virginia to enter the service of Uncle Sam, met death soon after the signing of the armistice. Just before the base hospital left for Europe, he was killed by the Legion of Honor at St. Deplis, France, the young Virginian procured a leave of absence to visit Paris. While in the French capital he was killed by a gang of thugs, who robbed him and threw his body in the river Seine.

A brother, Josiah H. Eagle, has been a student at the University of Virginia for the past three sessions.

BOLT KILLS CHILD AND STUNS OTHERS

OCEAN VIEW, Va., Sept. 4.—During an electric storm which passed over this section late last night, Elsie Hill, 15 years old, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. Other members of the family who were seated in the home of Robert Hill were injured.

The little girl was holding a young brother in her lap when the bolt entered the room. The younger child was badly burned and the mother and another daughter were severely stunned.

Traffic Police Guards
Marlboro Boulevard

HYATTSVILLE, Md., Sept. 5.—A motorcycle policeman of the Maryland State Police force has just been placed on duty on the Washington-Marlboro boulevard. This thoroughfare, according to residents along the road, has long been a favorite speed course for motorists, and has been the scene of many accidents.

Rain Breaks Long Drought.

DANVILLE, Va., Sept. 4.—This long drought was broken here this afternoon when a copious and heavy rain fell during a thunderstorm. The last time it rained as heavily was May 7. The precipitation here during August, official records show, was less than a third of an inch; normal for August is four inches.

COMING TO THE THEATRSE

Today's Amusements.

National—"Other Lives." Garlick—"Wait Till We're Married." Pol's—"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." B. F. Keith's—"Vaudeville." Cosmo—"Vaudeville and pictures." Strand—"Vaudeville and pictures." Gayety—"Cuddle Up." Capitol—"Social Follies." Columbia—"The Golem." Metropolitan—"The Child Thou Gavest Me." Rialto—"Betty Compton in 'At the End of the World'." Palace—"Roscoe Arbuckle in 'Crazy to Marry'." Knickerbocker—"The Child Thou Gavest Me." Crandall—"Eid Bennett in 'Keeping Up With Lizzie'." Glen Echo Park Resort attractions. Chesapeake Beach—Resort attractions. Marshall Hall—Resort attractions. Great Falls Park—Resort attractions. Colonial Beach—Resort attractions.

METROPOLITAN.

The bill arranged for Labor Day week at Crandall's Metropolitan Theater embodies so many diversified items that it must be set down as one of the most satisfying programs of the season. "The Child Thou Gavest Me," the chief film feature which yesterday was presented for the first time in Washington before overflowed crowds, offers a thoroughly novel treatment of the "eternal triangle." The two-reel comedy, "The Fall Guy," revelatory of Larry Semon's new bag of farcical tricks, is genuinely funny; the news and topical subjects are brisk and interesting and the musical embellishments, especially the cello solo by C. V. M. Berceuse from Jocelyn, by Godard—superb.

"The Child Thou Gavest Me" relates the marital experiences of a young couple whose happiness is disturbed by the disclosure of a secret in the life of the bride. The husband vows vengeance and finally imputes a purely imaginary guilt to his best friend, whom he seeks to slay. Only when this crisis in their lives is reached is the wife permitted to relate circumstances which she has often before attempted to explain to her husband. Her simple, fearful recital of a brutal night in Belgium during the invasion brings down upon the husband a realization of the blunder he has made and of the identity of the man he really should kill.

The roles in this picture are played by Lewis Stone, as the husband; Barbara Castle, the bride; William Desmond, the family friend; Richard Hendrick, the most lovable, the most talented and the handsomest little dodger before the camera, in the title role; Winter Hall and Dorothy Dandridge, who indeed has such trust been placed in the ability of a three-and-a-half-year-old baby as has been imposed in the charming talents of Master "Itchie" Hendrick. In the woman in his hands, the new and novel production for First National, directed by John M. Stahl, this precocious youngster acquitted himself wonderfully well, but in the present picture his antics far surpass all of his previous appearances.

The versatility of the child is amazing. He swims, rides a bicycle, puts his collar through his tricks and indulges in many innocent escapades.

COLUMBIA.

"The Golem."

It is difficult to imagine a better selection of a photoplay to begin the new season of the week of the New York engagement of "The Golem," the astounding screen offering that has already taken Manhattan by storm and which promises to hang up a new popularity record before it completes its Broadway engagement. "The Golem," however, is not the offering of the Columbia selection to open its season yesterday afternoon and after viewing the first Washington showings, one does not have great difficulty in believing the statement of the Columbia management that that theater is preparing to spring a group of altogether unusual screen selections during the coming season.

"The Golem" was presented in Washington yesterday at a time when the same picture begins the twelfth week of its New York engagement. It is literally a Titan of the screen and the characterization of the legendary Golem, drawn from an ancient Bohemian folk-tale, is easily one of the most astounding cinema creations that the silver sheet has yet revealed.

"The Golem" takes its title from a legendary figure of clay that was erected by an early Jewish rabbi of the Thirteenth century at a time when his people, segregated in the ghetto, were at the mercy of the Christians. The rabbi, in great fear for his people, exercised an esoteric art of which he was master and by inserting a mystic formula in a star worn on the forehead of the clay figure of the golem he brought to life a beneficent giant who came to the rescue of the stricken people.

The screen production brings out the story of how the emperor, frightened by the hostility of the ghetto and impressed by the supernatural vitality of the clay figure, immediately gave assurances of his desire to protect the people of the ghetto and the rabbi, knowing the destructive nature of the Golem once its mission was accomplished, undertook to destroy the figure. The Golem, however, frustrated his design and went on a rampage of destruction which threatened the very existence of the city. The story reaches a breathless climax when the giant, about to hurl a little child to destruction, is suddenly converted into a man when the child in fearless curiosity, withdraws the formula from the star on the breast of the monster.

METROPOLITAN.

The bill arranged for Labor Day week at Crandall's Metropolitan Theater embodies so many diversified items that it must be set down as one of the most satisfying programs of the season. "The Child Thou Gavest Me," the chief film feature which yesterday was presented for the first time in Washington before overflowed crowds, offers a thoroughly novel treatment of the "eternal triangle." The two-reel comedy, "The Fall Guy," revelatory of Larry Semon's new bag of farcical tricks, is genuinely funny; the news and topical subjects are brisk and interesting and the musical embellishments, especially the cello solo by C. V. M. Berceuse from Jocelyn, by Godard—superb.

"The Child Thou Gavest Me" relates the marital experiences of a young couple whose happiness is disturbed by the disclosure of a secret in the life of the bride. The husband vows vengeance and finally imputes a purely imaginary guilt to his best friend, whom he seeks to slay. Only when this crisis in their lives is reached is the wife permitted to relate circumstances which she has often before attempted to explain to her husband. Her simple, fearful recital of a brutal night in Belgium during the invasion brings down upon the husband a realization of the blunder he has made and of the identity of the man he really should kill.

The roles in this picture are played by Lewis Stone, as the husband; Barbara Castle, the bride; William Desmond, the family friend; Richard Hendrick, the most lovable, the most talented and the handsomest little dodger before the camera, in the title role; Winter Hall and Dorothy Dandridge, who indeed has such trust been placed in the ability of a three-and-a-half-year-old baby as has been imposed in the charming talents of Master "Itchie" Hendrick. In the woman in his hands, the new and novel production for First National, directed by John M. Stahl, this precocious youngster acquitted himself wonderfully well, but in the present picture his antics far surpass all of his previous appearances.

The versatility of the child is amazing. He swims, rides a bicycle, puts his collar through his tricks and indulges in many innocent escapades.

CHESAPEAKE BEACH.

Chesapeake Beach is having one of the biggest week-ends in its history. The bay resort, just an hour's ride from Washington, was thronged yesterday and Saturday and the Labor Day crowd is expected to be a record-breaker. Special trains will be run today to accommodate the crowds.

Fishing now is the best so far this summer, and the fishing pier is lined daily with enthusiasts. This choice fishing grounds farther out in the bay may be visited by boat. Bathing in the salty surf is superb. Free dancing to music by the orchestra is a popular feature. The countless amusements lining the long over-the-water boardwalk will continue running full blast until next Sunday night, when the season at the resort will formally close. The spacious grounds offer ideal facilities for outing parties desiring a pleasant holiday amid pleasant surroundings.

CORP. WINDSOR'S
FUNERAL IS HELD

ROCKVILLE, Md., Sept. 4.—Funeral services for Frank S. Windsor, of Potomac, this county, who, while a corporal in Co. I, Twenty-third U. S. Infantry, was killed in battle in France on July 1, 1918, were held at Pumphrey's Chapel, Rockville, Sunday afternoon, the Rev. E. W. Brubaker, pastor of the Methodist Church at Potomac, officiating. Members of the Henderson-Smith-Edmonds Post, American Legion, attended in uniform and conducted the military exercises. Burial was in the cemetery at Potomac.

New Pastor at Lynchburg.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Sept. 4.—The Rev. C. B. Reynolds, late of Cleveland, Ohio, where he was pastor of Boulevard Christian Church, today began his ministry as pastor of First Christian Church. A native of Craig County, he has been preaching for 29 years in Ohio.

Today's Amusements.

National—"Other Lives." Garlick—"Wait Till We're Married." Pol's—"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." B. F. Keith's—"Vaudeville." Cosmo—"Vaudeville and pictures." Strand—"Vaudeville and pictures." Gayety—"Cuddle Up." Capitol—"Social Follies." Columbia—"The Golem." Metropolitan—"The Child Thou Gavest Me." Rialto—"Betty Compton in 'At the End of the World'." Palace—"Roscoe Arbuckle in 'Crazy to Marry'." Knickerbocker—"The Child Thou Gavest Me." Crandall—"Eid Bennett in 'Keeping Up With Lizzie'." Glen Echo Park Resort attractions. Chesapeake Beach—Resort attractions. Marshall Hall—Resort attractions. Great Falls Park—Resort attractions. Colonial Beach—Resort attractions.

METROPOLITAN.

The bill arranged for Labor Day week at Crandall's Metropolitan Theater embodies so many diversified items that it must be set down as one of the most satisfying programs of the season. "The Child Thou Gavest Me," the chief film feature which yesterday was presented for the first time in Washington before overflowed crowds, offers a thoroughly novel treatment of the "eternal triangle." The two-reel comedy, "The Fall Guy," revelatory of Larry Semon's new bag of farcical tricks, is genuinely funny; the news and topical subjects are brisk and interesting and the musical embellishments, especially the cello solo by C. V. M. Berceuse from Jocelyn, by Godard—superb.

"The Child Thou Gavest Me" relates the marital experiences of a young couple whose happiness is disturbed by the disclosure of a secret in the life of the bride. The husband vows vengeance and finally imputes a purely imaginary guilt to his best friend, whom he seeks to slay. Only when this crisis in their lives is reached is the wife permitted to relate circumstances which she has often before attempted to explain to her husband. Her simple, fearful recital of a brutal night in Belgium during the invasion brings down upon the husband a realization of the blunder he has made and of the identity of the man he really should kill.

The roles in this picture are played by Lewis Stone, as the husband; Barbara Castle, the bride; William Desmond, the family friend; Richard Hendrick, the most lovable, the most talented and the handsomest little dodger before the camera, in the title role; Winter Hall and Dorothy Dandridge, who indeed has such trust been placed in the ability of a three-and-a-half-year-old baby as has been imposed in the charming talents of Master "Itchie" Hendrick. In the woman in his hands, the new and novel production for First National, directed by John M. Stahl, this precocious youngster acquitted himself wonderfully well, but in the present picture his antics far surpass all of his previous appearances.

The versatility of the child is amazing. He swims, rides a bicycle, puts his collar through his tricks and indulges in many innocent escapades.

CHESAPEAKE BEACH.

Chesapeake Beach is having one of the biggest week-ends in its history. The bay resort, just an hour's ride from Washington, was thronged yesterday and Saturday and the Labor Day crowd is expected to be a record-breaker. Special trains will be run today to accommodate the crowds.

Fishing now is the best so far this summer, and the fishing pier is lined daily with enthusiasts. This choice fishing grounds farther out in the bay may be visited by boat. Bathing in the salty surf is superb. Free dancing to music by the orchestra is a popular feature. The countless amusements lining the long over-the-water boardwalk will continue running full blast until next Sunday night, when the season at the resort will formally close. The spacious grounds offer ideal facilities for outing parties desiring a pleasant holiday amid pleasant surroundings.

CORP. WINDSOR'S
FUNERAL IS HELD

ROCKVILLE, Md., Sept. 4.—Funeral services for Frank S. Windsor, of Potomac, this county, who, while a corporal in Co. I, Twenty-third U. S. Infantry, was killed in battle in France on July 1, 1918, were held at Pumphrey's Chapel, Rockville, Sunday afternoon, the Rev. E. W. Brubaker, pastor of the Methodist Church at Potomac, officiating. Members of the Henderson-Smith-Edmonds Post, American Legion, attended in uniform and conducted the military exercises. Burial was in the cemetery at Potomac.

New Pastor at Lynchburg.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Sept. 4.—The Rev. C. B. Reynolds, late of Cleveland, Ohio, where he was pastor of Boulevard Christian Church, today began his ministry as pastor of First Christian Church. A native of Craig County, he has been preaching for 29 years in Ohio.

To Confer
Excellence—Confer

"I agree with the Roman Emperor who summoned his cabinet to debate how a dish should be cooked for his dinner. A staff of experts must confer frequently to get from each cut of meat, each vegetable, each sauce, its fullest variety of appetite appeals. That you may always find new table pleasure here, we broil, boil, bake or roast to cookery perfection seldom found elsewhere and never found anywhere at the frankly low prices of

Wallis'

12th and G Streets N.W.

Resigns High School.

HYATTSVILLE, Md., Sept. 4.—Mrs. Charles Gardner has resigned as a member of the faculty of the Surattsville High School and has sailed for France to complete a course in French. She will return next spring.

Traffic Police Guards
Marlboro Boulevard

HYATTSVILLE, Md., Sept. 5.—A motorcycle policeman of the Maryland State Police force has just been placed on duty on the Washington-Marlboro boulevard. This thoroughfare, according to residents along the road, has long been a favorite speed course for motorists, and has been the scene of many accidents.

Rain Breaks Long Drought.

DANVILLE, Va., Sept. 4.—This long drought was broken here this afternoon when a copious and heavy rain fell during a thunderstorm. The last time it rained as heavily was May 7. The precipitation here during August, official records show, was less than a third of an inch; normal for August is four inches.

WINS FIRST PLACE
IN FETE AT BOWIE

HYATTSVILLE, Md., Sept. 4.—Phillip Nalley, of Collington, Prince Georges County, won first honors in the annual tournament at Ascension church grounds at Bowie yesterday given for the benefit of the church.

Norfolk Labor to Celebrate.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 4.—Organized labor will lay aside the tools of its craft tomorrow while the workers of the nation join in the celebration of the twenty-seventh annual Labor Day. It is expected that at least 4,000 union men, with their families, will participate in the festivities here.

COMING TO THE THEATRSE

Today's Amusements.

National—"Other Lives." Garlick—"Wait Till We're Married." Pol's—"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." B. F. Keith's—"Vaudeville." Cosmo—"Vaudeville and pictures." Strand—"Vaudeville and pictures." Gayety—"Cuddle Up." Capitol—"Social Follies." Columbia—"The Golem." Metropolitan—"The Child Thou Gavest Me." Rialto—"Betty Compton in 'At the End of the World'." Palace—"Roscoe Arbuckle in 'Crazy to Marry'." Knickerbocker—"The Child Thou Gavest Me." Crandall—"Eid Bennett in 'Keeping Up With Lizzie'." Glen Echo Park Resort attractions. Chesapeake Beach—Resort attractions. Marshall Hall—Resort attractions. Great Falls Park—Resort attractions. Colonial Beach—Resort attractions.

METROPOLITAN.

The bill arranged for Labor Day week at Crandall's Metropolitan Theater embodies so many diversified items that it must be set down as one of the most satisfying programs of the season. "The Child Thou Gavest Me," the chief film feature which yesterday was presented for the first time in Washington before overflowed crowds, offers a thoroughly novel treatment of the "eternal triangle." The two-reel comedy, "The Fall Guy," revelatory of Larry Semon's new bag of farcical tricks, is genuinely funny; the news and topical subjects are brisk and interesting and the musical embellishments, especially the cello solo by C. V. M. Berceuse from Jocelyn, by Godard—superb.

"The Child Thou Gavest Me" relates the marital experiences of a young couple whose happiness is disturbed by the disclosure of a secret in the life of the bride. The husband vows vengeance and finally imputes a purely imaginary guilt to his best friend, whom he seeks to slay. Only when this crisis in their lives is reached is the wife permitted to relate circumstances which she has often before attempted to explain to her husband. Her simple, fearful recital of a brutal night in Belgium during the invasion brings down upon the husband a realization of the blunder he has made and of the identity of the man he really should kill.

The roles in this picture are played by Lewis Stone, as the husband; Barbara Castle, the bride; William Desmond, the family friend; Richard Hendrick, the most lovable, the most talented and the handsomest little dodger before the camera, in the title role; Winter Hall and Dorothy Dandridge, who indeed has such trust been placed in the ability of a three-and-a-half-year-old baby as has been imposed in the charming talents of Master "Itchie" Hendrick. In the woman in his hands, the new and novel production for First National, directed by John M. Stahl, this precocious youngster acquitted himself wonderfully well, but in the present picture his antics far surpass all of his previous appearances.